LORD'S LAUGHTER

"Do your folks have family prayer before breakfast?" asked little Georgie. "No," replied little Albert, "we have prayers before we go to bed. We ain't afraid in the daytime.

The church was having trouble with its sound system and decided to install a more modern stereo system on an experimental basis. The pastor asked for comments and, as an elderly lady departed the sanctuary that Sunday, she confronted him with her usual salty tone: "Don't like it. If I wanted to hear what you had to say, I would have moved closer up front!"

A man who spent most of his time in front of the TV watching football games fell asleep during an evening game and spent the entire night in the chair.

In the morning, his wife woke him up for work. "Get up, dear," she said. "It's 20 to 7."

In an instant, the man was fully awake. "In whose favor?" he asked.

Maybe it's just my imagination, but the TV commercials that once were long enough for a trip to the kitchen for a glass of water, now seem to give me enough time to build a sandwich.

A little boy came home eating a candy bar. His mother asked him where he got it.

"I bought it at the store with the dollar you gave me," he said.

"But that dollar was for Sunday school," his mother replied.

"I know, Mom, but the pastor met me at the door and got me in for free," the boy said.
